DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

Applicant's disclosure, filed 7/20/06, about a relate application has been received and considered. The IDS, filed 3/16/05, has also been considered.

Amendment

The markings of underline and line-through did not make it through the electronic file process well. For example, in the examiner's copy after faxing and scanning, it is not clear which words are lined-through. This is true for lines 6, 10, 12 and especially lines 13-14. Claim 62 also has similar problems.

In an effort to keep prosecution moving forward, the examiner has tried to address the 112 issues to the best of his ability based on the condition of the claims and the arguments provided. The 112, first rejection is withdrawn at least until it is clear what is being claimed.

The examiner assures applicant of a non-final or allowance based on a clear copy of the amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 54-69, 51 and 52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The aggregating step, in claims 54 and 62, has several inconsistencies. The specification shows the aggregating step to be accomplished at or by the central server 120, not a server of the enterprise 108, which is currently claimed.

Applicant's special definition of "group" is confusing because it signifies a product, but the claim is written as aggregating from a group at each of the enterprise site. This appears to be using "group" as its normal meaning.

A more accurate way of stating the part of applicant's invention could be – aggregating demand received, at a central server, from enterprise servers, the demand comprising material requirements common to a product group among a plurality of enterprise sites; ... --

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 51-69 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lidow (now US patent 7,003,474).

The explanation for this rejection is the same as the previous action.

Response to Arguments

The arguments are moot because of the poor quality of the amendment. Hopefully, the examiner's comments will help further prosecution while fixing the quality of the amendment.
